

Abstract of the Disclosure

An energy-absorbing element for a vehicle component is provided. The element is formed of a composite material comprising a combination or mixture of mineral fibers, such as glass fibers, and organic fibers, such as polypropylene fibers.